Cofunds to help advisers with tax year end by holding ISA collection points

Cofunds is offering last minute 'ISA collection points' for advisers to submit ISA applications across the UK.

There will be 12 national collection points set up around the UK where advisers can drop off ISA applications for the 2012/13 tax year. The collection points will be open until 6.00pm (4.15pm in Belfast) on 5 April 2013. Further information can be found on the Cofunds website

Applications can also be submitted at Cofunds' offices in London and Chelmsford and all will be quality checked on site.

Stephen Wynne-Jones, Head of Marketing Operations said: "Providing these physical collection points ensure advisers have the means to get their clients' applications in on time no matter how they choose to submit them - online, by post or in person. The collection points have proved very popular in the past and we expect them to be this year, too, if there is a last minute rush these physical collection points offer those who would otherwise miss the post the chance to still make the crucial deadline."
